A black and white manga panel. In the upper left, a character with spiky hair and a dark coat is shown in a dynamic pose, possibly falling or jumping. In the center, a large, dark, circular structure with a complex, geometric pattern around its rim dominates the frame. Inside this circle, two characters are visible: one with spiky hair and a dark coat, and another with long hair and a light-colored robe. The character with spiky hair is holding a scythe. In the upper right, a character with long hair and a light-colored robe is looking down at the circular structure. The background is filled with motion lines and a sense of intense action.
